

Family relationships with our aging loved ones are time sensitive and trying to juggle everyone can be overwhelming. Your time is valuable and often we don't have enough time in the day to handle all of our responsibilities. Wouldn't it be nice to have an experienced care manager on your team to help you deal with day-to-day challenges of your loved ones?

Bremo Pharmacy would like to introduce Courtney Petley with GeroPartners. Courtney Petley is a licensed clinic social worker with the education and skills to help families navigate the aging process. Courtney and her associates provide a personalized road map of how to move forward for “Best Quality of Life and Independence”. GeroPartners provides services where you live, whether it is at home or in a long-term care community.

GeroPartners clinicians will meet with their potential client and family in their home, provide a comprehensive analysis of the situation while screening for emotional and cognitive issues; home environment and safety needs; social and financial supports as well as legal issues. These recommendations can be used if you choose to implement the plan of action yourself or work with GeroPartners for ongoing support and guidance.

Building a relationship of trust and respect is only the start of what Courtney and the staff at GeroPartners does. Working with families to establish a care plan, no job is too small. Focusing on the needs of you and your loved ones to improve quality of life, GeroPartners clinicians have the education, training and experience to do so.

Courtney Petley of GeroPartners can be reached at (804) 993-4304 ext. #702 or by email at cpetley@geropartners.com. Visit www.geropartners.com for more information or stop by Bremo Pharmacy.
